RE: NAESB Copyright Policy

Dear Ms. Bose:

The North American Energy Standards Board ("NAESB") herewith submits this report to the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission ("FERC" or "Commission") regarding the NAESB Copyright Policy. The report contains an explanation of NAESB's policy regarding copyrighted material, including the procedure for obtaining access to copyrighted material and the use of the copyrighted material by members and non-members in FERC compliance filings and tariffs.

The cover letter, report and enclosures are being filed electronically in Adobe Acrobat® Print Document Format (.pdf), with each enclosure bookmarked separately. The filing is also available on the NAESB web site (www.naesb.org). Please feel free to call me at (713) 356-0060 or refer to the NAESB website (www.naesb.org) should you have any questions or need additional information regarding the NAESB WEQ Version 003 standards.

Respectfully submitted,

Rae McQuade

REPORT OF THE NORTH AMERICAN ENERGY STANDARDS BOARD

It has come to our attention that NAESB's copyright policy may not have been understood by entities making filings with the Commission. The North American Energy Standards Board ("NAESB") is voluntarily submitting this report the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission ("FERC" or "Commission") in the above referenced dockets to clarify its policy. The report includes an explanation of the NAESB Copyright Policy and the use of NAESB copyrighted standards in FERC compliance filings and tariffs.

NAESB COPYRIGHT POLICY

All NAESB standards are copyrighted and protected by federal copyright law. As such, NAESB alone retains the rights to publication, reproduction, display and distribution of the copyrighted standards. As a benefit of NAESB membership, members may obtain standards free of charge and make use of hyperlinks that will direct an authorized user to a protected version of the standards. NAESB will also provide a copy of any standard to a state or federal regulator upon request. Non-members, which include agents, subsidiaries, and affiliates of members, can obtain access to the copyrighted standards by purchase or apply for a limited copyright waiver from the NAESB office. Limited copyright waivers are granted to non-members for the purpose of evaluating standards prior to purchase and/or reviewing the standards in order to prepare comments to regulated entities. Once a waiver is granted, the non-member will be able to view the standards for a set period of time through the use of LockLizard Safeguard Secure Viewer,¹ a document viewer software which will provide read-only access to the copyrighted material at no cost to the requestor. The limited copyright waiver will only be granted once per company for each set of standards or final actions. Any entity seeking a limited copyright waiver should contact the NAESB office.

To use the LockLizard Safeguard Secure Viewer, the user first downloads software to his or her computer that permits the reading of the document but prevents copying, printing or other means of electronic distribution. Once downloaded, the user can easily access the document for the period of time that has been set for the review. A more complete description of the use of the LockLizard Safeguard Secure Viewer can be found in the recent NAESB newsletter.² Should an entity require a waiver that does not meet the above requirements, such as an evaluation team, those requests are considered by NAESB on a case-by-case basis. By far though, the use of the LockLizard Safeguard Secure Viewer seems to meet most requests for access.

Should non-members choose to purchase the standards, the standards can be bought by entire publication version, by topic, or by final action prior to the publication of an entire version. The costs of the standards and final actions are published on the NAESB web site.³

NAESB maintains a list of companies that have obtained legal access to copyrighted material, including the method of acquisition and the products obtained. This list, with an effective date of November 20, 2012, is included in the report as Appendix B. The list is updated monthly and is made available on the NAESB website through the following link: <http://naesb.org/pdf2/copyright.pdf>.

THE USE OF NAESB COPYRIGHT PROTECTED STANDARDS IN FERC COMPLIANCE FILINGS AND/OR TARIFFS

In accordance with Federal copyright law, NAESB prohibits the reproduction of any portion of a copyright protected standard by members or non-members in any FERC compliance filing and/or tariff unless a previous agreement between the Commission and NAESB is in place, such as the ability for entities to quote verbatim the full text of NAESB WGQ Standard Nos. 1.3.2 and 5.3.2. In the instance of such an agreement, the NAESB copyright is still in place, but NAESB grants permission for any entity to use the referenced standards of the agreement in the agreed upon manner. Any entity, member or non-member, wishing to quote verbatim language from copyrighted standards that are not the subject of a previous agreement between the Commission and NAESB must first obtain the express permission of NAESB and must reference NAESB's consent to the request in the compliance filing and/or tariff as well as, where applicable, the transmittal letter. All entities, member or non-member, may, without obtaining the advanced approval of NAESB, refer to specific NAESB standard numbers in compliance filings and/or tariffs.

NAESB understands that in the past, the NAESB Copyright Policy may not have been clearly understood by entities that may have had a need to replicate NAESB standard's language. As such, NAESB normally will not pursue action for inadvertent copyright infringement against any entity that previously has used NAESB copyrighted material in a compliance filing and/or tariff without the express permission of NAESB for the WGQ NAESB Version 1.9 and WEQ NAESB Version 2.0. However, NAESB may choose to contact the entities violating the copyright held by NAESB to request removal of such recitations or to ensure that the entity has legal copies of the standards cited. From this date forward, NAESB will consider legal action against any entity, member or non-member, that verbatim replicates language from copyrighted standards in compliance filings and/or tariffs unless such language is the subject of a previous agreement between the Commission and NAESB, or the entity has acquired the express permission of NAESB. Except under the limited circumstances specifically permitted by the Fair Use Doctrine, NAESB considers it a copyright infringement to quote any part of its standards as part of filings with the Commission. Such limited circumstances may include Commission proceedings such as complaints, rate cases, and protests to rate cases. However, parties should always consult with NAESB prior to the use of any verbatim quote of copyrighted material.

Appendix A – NAESB Copyright Policy

INTRODUCTION:

The NAESB standards are copyrighted and protected by federal copyright law. All NAESB members have access to the standards via the member-only portion of the NAESB web site. In accessing the standards they do so for their specific company use. They are not permitted to reproduce and distribute to third parties, including affiliates, partners or other corporate entities under the same corporate umbrella.

There are several other ways that companies can gain access to NAESB standards; however, the same copyright limitations remain in effect so that persons likewise are not permitted to reproduce and distribute to third parties, including affiliates, partners or other corporate entities under the same corporate umbrella.

As examples of the preceding paragraph, a company that attends a NAESB class may have access to those standards addressed in the class. A company that purchases a version of the standards has access to that version via CD. Several government agencies have requested and received copies of the standards with waivers so that they and their task forces may evaluate the standards for use. The members of the task force are only to use the standards for evaluation purposes, and the same restrictions as noted above apply. As task force members determine to use the standards for implementation in their own companies and with trading partners, they must obtain the standards separately – either through purchasing, access to the NAESB web site if they are NAESB members, or attendance at classes.

REASON FOR ACCESS TO STANDARDS:

NAESB standards are developed by the industry to improve the transparency and transactional efficiency of the energy markets. From NAESB's perspective, all standards are voluntary.

The retail standards are available to support customer choice programs and other aspects of retail markets not related to customer choice programs. Some of the retail technical standards have been adopted by the states and are mandatory. The majority of the retail standards are voluntary. Access to the standards is necessary for implementation and ultimately, to benefit from the efficiency they introduce.

The Wholesale Gas Standards (WGQ Version 2.0) and the Wholesale Electric Standards (WEQ Version 002.1) with a few exceptions have been incorporated by reference by the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission into federal regulations and are mandatory for federal jurisdictional entities. The Commission, in adopting the standards, sets requirements for compliance and penalties for non-compliance. NAESB does not monitor for compliance nor does it set standards that address penalties for non-compliance. Access to the standards is necessary for implementation and ultimately, to benefit from the efficiency they introduce. Access is also needed to ensure compliance. The Wholesale Electric Standards (WEQ Version 003) were published on July 31, 2012 and filed with the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission on September 18, 2012.

Standards access is provided 1) through membership in NAESB, 2) by purchase of annual web site access, 3) via attendance at NAESB courses for specific standards, 4) through purchase at a nominal price, or 5) by receipt of a special license. In each instance, access is limited and non-transferable.

WARRANTY DISCLAIMER AND COPYRIGHT WARNING:

Below is the warranty disclaimer and copyright warning for each of the most recent versions of the NAESB standards.

Wholesale Electric Quadrant Version 003 Standards:

The North American Energy Standards Board (“NAESB”) disclaims and excludes, and any user of the NAESB standard acknowledges and agrees to NAESB’s disclaimer of, any and all warranties, conditions or representations, express or implied, oral or written, with respect to the standard or any part thereof, including any and all implied warranties or conditions of title, non-infringement, merchantability, or fitness or suitability for any particular purpose (whether or not NAESB knows, has reason to know, has been advised, or is otherwise in fact aware of any such purpose), whether alleged to arise by law, by reason of custom or usage in the trade, or by course of dealing. Each user of the standard also agrees that under no circumstances will NAESB be liable for any special, indirect, incidental, exemplary, punitive or consequential damages arising out of any use of, or errors or omissions in, the standard.

The North American Energy Standards Board (NAESB), Wholesale Electric Quadrant (WEQ) Standards Manuals Relating to Abbreviations, Acronyms, and Definition of Terms, Open Access Same-Time Information Systems (OASIS), Version 2.0, Coordinate Interchange, Area Control Error (ACE) Equation Special Cases, Manual Time Error Correction, Inadvertent Interchange Payback, Transmission Loading Relief (Eastern Interconnection), Standards of Conduct, Contracts, Gas / Electric Coordination, Public Key Infrastructure (PKI), WEQ/WGQ eTariff Related Standards, Measurement and Verification of Wholesale Electricity Demand Response, Specifications for Common Electricity Product and Pricing Definition, Specifications for Common Schedule Communication Mechanism for Energy Transactions, Specifications for Wholesale Standard Demand Response Signals, Customer Energy Usage Information Communication, Smart Grid Standards Data Elements Table, Measurement and Verification of Energy Efficiency Products, Interpretations and any amendments or errata thereto, are protected by NAESB's federal copyright 1996-2012. NAESB hereby grants the authorized users who are NAESB members in good standing permission to reproduce material therein for internal reference and use and not for use by any unauthorized third parties. Reproduction in any other form, or for any other purpose, is forbidden without express permission of NAESB. Copies are available for purchase from NAESB. This non-exclusive limited license is non-transferable and may be revoked without notice upon violation of the terms contained herein or any applicable law or regulation. Each user grants NAESB the right to audit its use to assure compliance with these terms.

Retail Gas and Electric Version 2.0 Model Business Practice:

The North American Energy Standards Board ("NAESB") disclaims and excludes, and any user of the NAESB standard acknowledges and agrees to NAESB's disclaimer of, any and all warranties, conditions or representations, express or implied, oral or written, with respect to the standard or any part thereof, including any and all implied warranties or conditions of title, non-infringement, merchantability, or fitness or suitability for any particular purpose (whether or not NAESB knows, has reason to know, has been advised, or is otherwise in fact aware of any such purpose), whether alleged to arise by law, by reason of custom or usage in the trade, or by course of dealing. Each user of the standard also agrees that under no circumstances will NAESB be liable for any special, indirect, incidental, exemplary, punitive or consequential damages arising out of any use of, or errors or omissions in, the standard.

The NAESB Retail Gas Quadrant ("RGQ") and Retail Electric Quadrant ("REQ") Model Business Practices related to the Master List of Defined Business Terms, Market Participant Interactions, Creditworthiness, Billing and Payments, Company – Supplier Disputes, Quadrant-Specific Electronic Delivery Mechanisms, Contracts, Internet Electronic Transport, Retail Customer Information, Retail Customer Billing and Payment Notification via Uniform Electronic Transactions, Retail Customer Enrollment, Drop and Account Information Change, Retail Customer Enrollment, Drop, Account Information Change Using a Registration Agent, Retail Customer Inquiries, Measurement and Verification (M&V) of Demand Response Programs, Service Request, Disconnection and Reconnection in the Registration Agent Model, Specifications for Common Electricity Product and Pricing Definition, Specifications for Common Schedule Communication Mechanism for Energy Transactions, Specifications for Retail Standard Demand Response Signals, Retail Customer Energy Usage Information Communication, Smart Grid Standards Data Elements Table, Energy Services Provider Interface (ESPI), Third Party Access to Smart Meter-based Information, Supplier Marketing Practices, Supplier Certification and any amendments or errata thereto, are protected by NAESB's federal copyright 2005-2012. NAESB hereby grants the authorized users who are NAESB members in good standing permission to reproduce material therein for internal reference and use and not for use by any unauthorized third parties. Reproduction in any other form, or for any other purpose, is forbidden without express permission of NAESB. Copies are available for purchase from NAESB. This non-exclusive limited license is non-transferable and may be revoked without notice upon violation of the terms contained herein or any applicable law or regulation. Each user grants NAESB the right to audit its use to assure compliance with these terms.

Wholesale Gas Quadrant Version 2.0 Business Practice Standards:

The North American Energy Standards Board ("NAESB") disclaims and excludes, and any user of the NAESB standard acknowledges and agrees to NAESB's disclaimer of, any and all warranties, conditions or representations, express or implied, oral or written, with respect to the standard or any part thereof, including any and all implied warranties or conditions of title, non-infringement, merchantability, or fitness or suitability for any particular purpose (whether or not NAESB knows, has reason to know, has been advised, or is otherwise in fact aware of any such purpose), whether alleged to arise by law, by reason of custom or usage in the trade, or by course of dealing.

Each user of the standard also agrees that under no circumstances will NAESB be liable for any special, indirect, incidental, exemplary, punitive or consequential damages arising out of any use of, or errors or omissions in, the standard.

The North American Energy Standards Board (NAESB), Wholesale Gas Quadrant (WGQ) Version 2.0 Standards Manuals Relating to Additional Standards, Nominations, Flowing Gas, Invoicing, Quadrant Electronic Delivery Mechanisms, Capacity Release, Contracts, Interpretations, and WGQ (REQ / RGQ Version 1.2) Internet Electronic Transport, WGQ Electronic Tariff Filing (WEQ Version 002.1) and any amendments or errata thereto, are protected by NAESB's federal copyright 1996-2010. NAESB hereby grants the authorized users who are NAESB members in good standing permission to reproduce material therein for internal reference and use and not for use by any unauthorized third parties. Reproduction in any other form, or for any other purpose, is forbidden without express permission of NAESB. Copies are available for purchase from NAESB. This non-exclusive limited license is non-transferable and may be revoked without notice upon violation of the terms contained herein or any applicable law or regulation. Each user grants NAESB the right to audit its use to assure compliance with these terms.

NAESB COPYRIGHT POLICY:

All NAESB Standards are protected under United States Copyright laws. The same copyright protection applies to much of the other materials published by NAESB.

Members of NAESB and persons purchasing NAESB Standards are permitted to make reasonable use of these materials internally for certain limited purposes. However, they may not transfer them outside their own companies nor may they transfer them to affiliates or other third parties without written authorization from the NAESB office.

Duplication of NAESB Standards is not only an infringement of NAESB's copyright but it increases the risk that the duplicated materials may not contain all of the Standards and the like, and may thus be incomplete. Persons in possession of incorrect, incomplete and outdated materials may be under the misconception that they are observing NAESB's Standards even when they are not. This serves no one and only undermines NAESB's purpose to present Standards to support the marketplace. Copyright infringement also undermines NAESB's ability to maintain the economic integrity its members expect so that it may continue its work in the future.

Members and purchasers of NAESB Standards and other NAESB copyrighted materials are cautioned to review their policies regarding use and distribution of our materials to assure that they are not intentionally or inadvertently infringing NAESB's copyright and coming into conflict with federal law.
